

Aloha

Let's watch LOVE on the Moon
in the Aloha State

Date: 18 May, 2021 (HST)

Time: several hours around 18:40

Aloha

Lunar LOVE

Let's enjoy looking for LOVE on the Moon in the Aloha State. This word was first discovered by an amateur astronomer, Masaru Takeo, in the Ehime Prefecture of Shikoku Island, in 2018. Then, this was immediately named as "Lunar LOVE".

You will be able to find this word on the First Quarter Moon as shown in the first page image.

The next chance for observing this word in the Aloha State will be on 18 May, 2021 (HST).

The best time is estimated as 18:40 in that evening, but you will be able to see Lunar LOVE for several hours around this.

Pray for the world peace
from the Aloha State, please !

Aloha

Lunar LOVE

The “Lunar LOVE” appeared as an Astronomy Picture of the Day, NASA on 3 November, 2018.

<https://apod.nasa.gov/apod/ap181103.html>

Image credit and Copyright: Masaru Takeo

Courtesy: Prof. Junichi Watanabe at National Astronomical Observatory of Japan.

Courtesy:

Yoshiaki Taniguchi at the Open University of Japan communicated with both Prof. Junichi Watanabe @
National Astronomical Observatory of Japan &
Masaru Takeo in Ehime, Japan